OUR VISION:

Through Jesus Christ we are called to lead people to God.
(based on Matthew 28.19-20)

Sentence:

'I am the living bread that came down from heaven,' says the Lord.

for the life of the world is my flesh.'

John 6:51

Prayer of the Day

Gracious God,
you have placed within the hearts of all your children
a longing for your word and a hunger for your truth:
grant that, believing in the one whom you have sent,

Reflection

"One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, said to Jesus, 'There is a boy here who has five barley loaves and two fish. But what are they among so many people?'"
(John 6:8-9)

Irish writer and teacher Frank McCourt tells the well-known nursery rhyme of 'Humpty Dumpty' to his class and for a whole lesson there's a heated discussion, with students saying things like: "This egg falls off the wall and if you study biology or physics you know that you can never put an egg back together again." McCourt asks a question that provokes the heated discussion, "Who says it's an egg?" The students respond indignantly with, "Of course it's an egg! Everyone knows that!" The class is thinking. They search the text for 'egg', any mention of 'egg', refusing to give in. They're comfortable with the idea of 'egg' and hence wonder why teachers have to come along and destroy everything with analysis.

The writer of John's Gospel tells us a well-known story. It is so well known that we read it, almost without thinking – and the translators are little help to us here. When Mark tells the same story, the disciples gather five loaves and two ἰχθύας ('fish'). In John, they find a small boy who has five loaves and two ὀψάρια, which could mean 'fish' but it could also refer to 'pieces of boiled meat'. Possibly it doesn't matter, but ἰχθύας and ὀψάρια are two different words and the translators want to make sure that if we're looking for an egg, that we find an egg.

The great gift of our scriptures is that they always have more to tell us and sometimes it takes only a little digging to reveal new and deeper insights. If we take for granted that we know all there is to know about this or that particular story and we don't do just a little bit of work to dig deeper, we may never move beyond a Sunday School understanding of the faith. Whether we're a brand-new Christian or have been a Christian all our lives, ongoing Christian education is a vital part of the faith journey.

When was the last time you participated in a Bible study or engaged in adult Christian education?

Bishop Jeremy Greaves

The Good, the Bad and the Ugly: Questions Women ask about Relationships and Christian Beliefs

The Joint Churches Domestic Violence Prevention Project was established in 1991 to inform and resource the churches on the issue of Family and Domestic Violence.

This third edition reflects changes in theology and language as churches and communities have more openly discussed and confronted DFV. It also draws upon further research into domestic and family violence. It discusses key questions with which women of faith wrestle as they attempt to make sense of what is happening to them in an abusive relationship, and to make decisions about the kind of future they want for themselves and their children.
